Dear Michael,

I hope you saw my message sent Monday regarding our local government data and technology practices study. A copy is included below for your reference. We have not yet received a response from the Town of Warwick. I hope your team can spare a few minutes to complete the online survey accessible through the link below. Your town's input is crucial to our effort. If you have questions about the study, please contact the Division of Local Government Services (518) 473-3355 or General.Div.LocGovernment@dos.ny.gov.

Mark Pattison

Dear Mr. Sweeton,

As a former mayor who is now tasked with understanding and meeting the diverse needs of local officials across New York State, I know the immense challenges and opportunities you face keeping up with rapidly evolving information technology. Each day seems to bring a new story that illustrates the stakes: whether it is the town next door fending off cyberattacks from hackers abroad or a multi-national company struggling to restore its customers' trust after the latest breach.

At the Department of State, we are working to craft a strategy and evaluate various ideas for how the state can help your town and others across the state to adapt. Toward that end, we have partnered with a program at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University in a short-term research effort. We seek to gather some basic information and understanding of your relationship with data and information technology.

You can help this effort by participating in the following survey. It should only take 10-15 minutes for you or another senior member of your organization who oversees your town's records to complete:

<https://ee.kobotoolbox.org/single/::Y5Bx>

We recommend that you complete the survey with the person who oversees your information systems. A team of graduate students will review responses and may contact you to arrange a follow-up interview to delve deeper. They will then prepare an analysis and report that addresses the following questions:

1. What are your most pressing data management needs?
2. What have you done so far to adapt?
3. What state actions would be most helpful as you take the next step?

The purpose of this exercise is to assess the status quo. Many of the questions asked are drawn from the What Works City standard, a leading national standard many mid-size and large local governments are striving to achieve but that few meet today. We do not expect your town to fulfill this standard today, but we think it is useful to help us understand where we are collectively. We will share the students' report with you and all other respondents and may convene additional conversations later this year based on what we learn.

I know your time is limited, but I hope you are able to allocate a few minutes to share your perspective on these important issues. Please be in touch with any questions or feedback you have. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Mark Pattison

Dear Sirs and Madams;

I would like to thank you for adopting and supporting the resolution to rescind the permits issued to Competitive Power Ventures, Energy Center. I am asking for you to put your full support and backing regarding it.

It is important that we follow through with our hard-earned efforts to bring to light how the permits were issued through bribery, as a direct result of the conviction of Joseph Percoco, and therefore need to be rescinded immediately.

In the meantime, the hard work of getting this facility closed is still ahead of us.

I look forward to your ideas and feedback in working with you to ensure this occurs.

Hello everyone,

This is a reminder that Orange County Municipal Planning Federation (OCMPF) has begun their Spring 2018 Course Series. The second course of the season will be taking place Tuesday, May 8th from 7:00 – 9:00 PM and there are still some seats available.

Many municipalities in New York State have required their land use board members to acquire continuing education credits every year. To keep up with this requirement, the Planning Federation offers at least two series of classes each year for municipal board members, elected officials, and the public.

The attached brochure outlines the course details and registration form. Please contact me with any questions and all registration requests. We hope to see everyone there.

SMALL QUANTITY GENERATOR CERTIFICATION

I hereby certify that I am a generator of hazardous waste within the State of New York and that because of the small volume of hazardous waste generated and/or stored, I qualify for conditionally exempt small quantity generator status.

I understand that in order for conditionally exempt small quantity generator status, I must meet all three of the following conditions:

1. Generate less than 1 kg/month (2.2 pounds) of acute hazardous waste (as defined by 6 NYCRR Part 371), and never store more than this amount on site at any time; and
2. Generate less than 100 kg/month (220 pounds) of all other hazardous waste (as defined by 6 NYCRR Part 371), and never store more than 1000 kg/month on site at any time.
3. Transport a maximum of 220 lbs of hazardous waste at one time.

Only if I am a farmer, I realize that I may store up to 1000 kg. (2200 pounds) of non-acute hazardous waste pesticides on my farm without losing my conditionally exempt status, provided that these wastes are brought to a household hazardous waste collection program.

I further understand that if, in the future, I exceed the quantity limitations described above, I will become subject to additional regulation as a hazardous waste generator and will no longer be eligible to participate in this type of collection program.

I certify that I have the authority to make these statements on behalf of my farm or business. Also, I, the undersigned, do hereby certify that the items brought for collection came from my farm or business located in Orange County.

Dear Ms. Astorino:

Hello, we are Merritt Research Services. Since 1986, we have provided municipal bond credit information to a wide variety of investment professionals - credit research analysts, investment bankers, underwriters, traders, portfolio managers, rating agencies and accountants, including some of the largest money managers in the nation. As such, we would like to request your assistance in updating our records.

Our clients maintain ongoing surveillance over bonds held in their investment portfolios. Among the nation's largest purchasers of new and secondary market tax-backed debt obligations, they believe obtaining current financial information is vital to the bond valuation process. This is why we are requesting your 2017 audited financial statements and supplemental information. Please send the above documents electronically to Infocenter@merrittresearch.com or to the following address:

O&R: CUSTOMERS BEWARE NEW BILL PAYMENT SCAM ON FACEBOOK

PEARL RIVER, NY May 8, 2018 --- O&R warned its customers today about a new phony bill-pay scheme --- this time in Spanish on Facebook --- in which crooks pose as "consultants" who offer help customers pay their debts. In reality, the crooks are stealing the customers' money.

The thieves say on Facebook that if customers wire a percentage of their "electric, cable, cell phone or any utility bill" to the scammers, the crooks will put up the difference to fully pay the bill. The example the phony post uses is if a customer's bill is $250, the customer can wire the thief $150 and the thief will cover the rest.

It looks too good to be true. That's because it isn't true. The scammer doesn't cover the customer's bill. The scammer steals the customer's money.

To make things worse, after the customer sends the payment to the scammer, the thieves send the customer a bogus 646 phone number for the customer to call to confirm that their payment was received by the company and the bill was paid in full.

Once again, not true. No payment was made on the account. The thieves stole the customer's money that was intended to pay the bill, the thieves had no intention of helping retire the debt and the bill needs to be fully paid.

Don't let this happen to you.

If you have questions about your O&R bill payment, call O&R Customer Service directly at (877) 4100 or email us.

~Atul Gawande

In 2014 Harvard surgeon and writer Atul Gawande published the best-seller Being Mortal about modern medicine and the culture's difficulty with accepting death. This documentary, Being Mortal tells the story of Dr. Gawande who is learning to think about death and dying in the context of being a healer. By sharing stories from both physicians and the people and families he encounters, including his own, the documentary shares new light on how our system so often focused on a cure, neglects the important conversations that need to happen so that a person's true priorities can be known and honored.
