- 2:06 Roger Moss Is there a qualifying exam when officers finish the training?
- 2:29 Patricia McMillan Bias training is not enough.
- 2:52 Jamie Munkatchy Is it possible to see the curriculum for implicit bias training? Who or what organization is doing the training?
- 4:05 Patricia McMillan There has to be a commitment to Anti-Racist policies and procedures.
- 7:04 Roger Moss How do you determine that all, not some officers, come out with new skills to deal with bias.
- 9:00 Valerie Lucznikowska sorry I'm late
- 9:21 Roger Moss to the Chief - is there any evidence that there is bias in how Warwick officers conduct themselves? Please reply either yes or no.
- 10:07 Jamie Munkatchy School systems / districts are experiencing the same resistance to implicit bias training.

10:01 Jamie Munkatchy School systems / districts are experiencing the same resistance to implicit bias training.

12:13 Roger Moss This is good. There should be members of the community in those trainings.

12:38 Joan Tirrell Biases against police.. I get it, but does that further enhance the victim status of police? Right EO203 isn't about police grievance!

13:43 Joan Tirrell Can every member of this panel articulate their complete support for the words found in the EO203, "black lives matter"?

15:04 Roger Moss The training needs to include community members!

15:22 Joan Tirrell Yes! Community members, Roger Moss.

17:45 Roger Moss No one replied to Kathy's question as to whether it was the recent iteration of a decade old curriculum

18:01 Jamie Munkatchy Community members will be key. Our officers will need to be able to listen and hear about the experiences of residents. A listening session so POC in Warwick can name the harms aloud.

session so POC in Warwick can name the harms aloud.

- 19:13 Joan Tirrell Agree wholeheartedly with Jamie Munkatchy.
- 20:34 Valerie Lucznikowska Does the current program have a facility for determining the outcomes among the police? Taht is, soem way of assessing if the training made a difference.
- 21:04 Roger Moss How many incidents in the last year required use of force in Warwick
- 21:50 Roger Moss Problem
- 22:05 Roger Moss where are these records - are they public
- 24:28 Joan Tirrell This has been a data free conversation. It's easy to say there's no real problem when we see no data from WPD.
- 24:29 Patricia McMillan We need an independent (from the Town & Police) group to whom complaints about police can be made. We also need the existing policies, not just the proposed polices to review.
- 25:14 Joan Tirrell Yes, Pat.

-  28:54 Roger Moss What about use of force when there's no imminent danger, but the officer overreacts
-  29:07 Roger Moss Has any officer in Warwick ever been in a fight for life in a Warwick incident?
-  30:49 P DeBruhl Do Warwick police have access to crisis intervention training with support from a qualified social worker? Also do they have body cameras and tasers?
-  34:38 susanna hatenboer I'd like to know that, Patricia

- 35:58 Roger Moss All of this is moot if all reviews of police response is done in a back room with no community members to raise questions
- 36:15 Jamie Munkatchy I emailed Sweeton: Where can the public access records of police misconduct for officers in our area? This past summer NYS repealed section 50a that hid misconduct records from the public.
- 36:35 Patricia McMillan Gaslight? Really?!
- 36:38 Jamie Munkatchy Sweeton replied: The 50 a issue is still unresolved as it was challenged in court and is yet to be decided. Whatever comes down we'll comply with the law.
- 38:38 Roger Moss I FOIed that information and there have been no disciplinary actions in the last two years.
- 42:28 Jamie Munkatchy How often has this force been used in Warwick? Are stats like this kept? Are stats kept about the number of times our officers draw their weapons?
- 42:31 Roger Moss Again, is this the real issue in Warwick? Isn't it more relevant to spend time on use of force that's not lethal and not provoked?

- 42:31 Roger Moss Again, is this the real issue in Warwick? Isn't it more relevant to spend time on use of force that's not lethal and not provoked?
- 43:02 Roger Moss Jamie, yes, you're right on target
- 43:50 Valerie Lucznikowska Why is the Supervisor not wearing a mask?
- 45:25 Barbara Bald And Others as well as speaker now.
- 46:21 Valerie Lucznikowska But the supervisor should set the mode.
- 46:33 Roger Moss 50% of all police activity this year3
- 49:13 Patricia McMillan While community policing is extremely important and we should have it, we also need mental health experts available for calls that the police are not trained/equipped to handle.
- 49:46 P DeBruhl A crisis intervention social worker together with a trained police officer could also talk someone in crisis down in the same way as a member of the community who is familiar with that person.

someone in crisis down in the same way as a member of the community who is familiar with that person.

50:25 Patricia McMillan Exactly, P DeBruhl!

51:07 Roger Moss Good

51:32 Roger Moss Not easy is desirable

51:56 Patricia McMillan The difficulty in achieving accreditation is not a reason not to try.

52:26 Roger Moss Again, no transparency

52:36 Jamie Munkatchy Do accredited police forces have lower rates of police brutality?

52:58 Roger Moss Yay

53:09 Roger Moss Finally some facts

53:15 Joan Tirrell Facts!

53:25 Patricia McMillan Yes, Shawnee! Thank you!

53:51 Joan Tirrell What Shawnee says!

55:44 Patricia McMillan A detailed report of the budget must be made available to see how funds can be reallocated.

56:28 Roger Moss Fear, excuses, don't hold up to data and facts

56:57 Patricia Foxx why would Tazing not be just as effective as deadly physical force in circumstances of a life threatening situation for an officer?

57:11 susanna hatenboer If it's so difficult, how did other communities do it?

58:27 susanna hatenboer I meant accreditation

58:55 Patricia McMillan Black and Brown parents have been instructing their children on how to handle police stops for generations.

59:04 Joan Tirrell Right, Susanna. Let's talk to Cornwall, Monroe, Middletown, etc. PDs and get a better sense of what it took to achieve accreditation.

59:10 Roger Moss Traffic stops are the SECOND largest issue in the police actions

59:22 Roger Moss The first largest is checking on reports of a business property check
